ICD & DSM DIAGNOSIS: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow

Monday, October 26, 2015

Presented by: Carol D. Goodheart, Ed.D.

This program offers a context and overview of the World Health Organization's (WHO) International Classification of Diseases (ICD); the relationship of ICD-10-CA (Canada), ICD-10-CM (U.S.), and DSM-5; case vignettes relevant to diagnostic distinctions; an introduction to ICD-11, which is already well advanced in its development and will be adopted by WHO in 2017. Major changes in DSM-5 are reviewed. The relationship of the ICD classification to the DSM classification is discussed and contrasts between the two systems are presented.

CE CERTIFICATION:
This workshop has been approved for six (6) hours of Continuing Education credits by the American Psychological Association (APA). Certificates are available for an additional $33 CAD plus 5% GST.

CE OBJECTIVES:
• Participants will be able to describe the purpose of diagnostic classification systems.
• Participants will understand the coding format of the ICD-10-CA.
• Participants will be able to identify at least 3 major changes in the DSM-5.
• Participants will understand the efforts to harmonize the DSM to the ICD system.
• Participants will be able to describe the relevance of the evolving codes for their health care practices.
• Participants will be able to identify the most important feature for clinicians in the ICD version that follows the ICD-10-CM, the ICD-11.

PRESENTER BIOGRAPHY:
Carol Goodheart is in independent practice in Princeton, New Jersey, USA, specializing in health psychology. During the past two decades, she has also served at Rutgers University’s Graduate School of Applied and Professional Psychology as a contributing faculty and clinical supervisor.

Dr Goodheart is an author of many journal articles and chapters, as well eight books, related to health, women, and the practice of psychology. Her latest is relevant to her workshop today: A Primer for ICD-10-CM Users: Psychological and Behavioral Conditions, available from American Psychological Association (APA) Books.

Dr. Goodheart was the 2010 President of the American Psychological Association. She advocated for APA’s commitment to supporting the development of the ICD-11 throughout her presidential cycle.

Her involvement in APA’s efforts on behalf of healthcare practice is strong. She chaired the association’s 2005 Presidential Task Force on Evidence-Based Practice, which developed the policy recommendation adopted by APA, and co-chaired the 2009 APA Presidential Task Force and Summit on the Future of Psychology Practice.

In 2012, she received the American Psychological Foundation Gold Medal Award for Life Achievement in the Practice of Psychology.
